Class actions have been an evolving part of the litigation landscape in Australia for over 26 years. The current Australian Law Reform Commission inquiry into Litigation Funding suggests that the evolution in this space may be far from complete.

For this special topical seminar event hosted by Clyde & Co, AILA is very pleased to announce that the Chair of the ALRC and Federal Court Judge, Her Honour Justice Derrington has agreed to participate in a unique panel discussion touching on the existing state of the market, the potential reforms being canvassed by the ALRC and the impacts on capacity, price and structure of related products in the financial lines insurance market.
