

2019 Geoff Masel Lecture

INSURANCE: FACING A CHANGE OF ERA

Presented by MICHAEL GILL AILA Founder & Consultant | DLA Piper

A unique eastern seaboard interactive event hosted by Thomson Geer and connecting four states via Video Conference to the live event in Sydney followed by networking and drinks.

In this year's GML, Michael Gill revisits the reasons which lead to the creation of AILA thirty-six years ago and, against the background of the current and predicted societal changes, challenges AILA to embrace a new role. That role is robust thought leadership for the industry and the laws on which it is based.

Commentators are saying that we are moving from an era of change to a change of era. What are the obvious and not so obvious changes for insurance?

The lecture will open discussion (thinking!) around familiar topics including:

- Investor and policy holder; who's interest prevails
- A new focus; doing the right thing, not just avoiding illegality
- A new promise for consumers - The end of disclosure
- Closing the expectation gap
- A huge role for Artificial Intelligence. Are we ready? Who wins?

This Lecture will encourage AILA and the broad interests represented by its members and friends to explore with educated experience and knowledge the most appropriate role for insurance solutions for Australian consumers in the Australia of the future.
