YOU'RE ON NOTICE

The notification of circumstances under 'claims made' policies remains one of the most problematic issues for both insurers and insureds. Inadequate notification is one of the easiest ways for insureds to inadvertently lose cover. However, despite notification issues arising in many claims, few matters have reached a final judgment on this issue and local case law leaves many questions open. Terry Mehigan will share his insights regarding notification, including what constitutes adequate notification, what should be notified, the detail required, linking subsequent claims to notified facts, 'blanket notifications', and when and how the Insurance Contracts Act applies. Goce Mitrevski will reveal how these issues are, or should be, addressed by insurers at a practical level.

Speaker	Terry Mehigan, Barrister-at-Law, 12 Floor Wentworth Selborne Chambers
Commentator	Goce Mitrevski, IAG Legal Australia
Chair	Ray Giblett, Norton Rose Fulbright
