Presented by:

Dean Carrigan >> Partner | Clyde & Co, Sydney

Chaired by:

Stephen Williams >> Partner | Kott Gunning

Join us for an overview of Australia's new mandatory data breach notification regime presented by Clyde & Co partner Dean Carrigan. The new regime will commence in February 2018 and will apply to a wide range of Australian businesses that handle personal information, including law firms, insurers, brokers, medical professionals, investigators and loss adjusters. In this seminar, we will consider the new laws and provide some insight into the sorts of steps which businesses need to take to prepare for and meet their obligations, including investigating incidents, identifying eligible data breaches and notifying regulators and data subjects.
